

Looking Back

As we all “resurfaced” and looked to rebuild some of us celebrated the idea of connecting and coming back together. Some of us reflected on what would always be a little different in our lives. And some of us continued a path to refilling our own cups the very best we could.

Synaptic would like to thank you for including us in your journey and we loved being able to meet you exactly where you were at. In 2023 we’re here to move ahead with you – at your pace and in a direction, you would like to go.

The Full Story

The Synaptic journey doesn't start or end with a client injury or diagnosis. It comes together within the clinic but is the combination of community outreach, support, and innovation far beyond our four walls. Behind each treatment session are technology partnerships, client unique navigations, and continual research and professional growth. As a part of the community making this difference happen, we are grateful beyond words.
